2012 Communication Arts Banquet "...get the message"

This year's banquet was themed to commemorate the 100th year anniversary of the sinking of the Titanic and the beginning of standardized and regulated radio use.

Guest speaker Pratt Farmer spoke to attendees about his experiences in the communication field and told the story about what prompted him to pursue a communications degree. Farmer told students about his first experience with radio—when he volunteered to read a play he wrote on the air. Radio and communication has held his interest ever since.

Along with the keynote speaker, a successful banquet, and silent auction, many outstanding Communication Arts students received area awards and scholarships.

Apart from the scholarship winners, four students were recognized for their acceptance to the SSCA Undergraduate Honors Conference Research Paper Competition.

Jeffrey Corley, Patrick Bennett, Brittany Forrester, and James Minick were among a few select students to have their papers accepted and reviewed at the regional conference.

Congratulations to Our Graduating Seniors! Good luck Class of 2012!

Communication Arts Summer Classes

Make sure to sign up for summer classes if you haven't already done so! They're a great way to get ahead (or catch up!) and there are many classes offered. Reserve your seat before classes fill up!

REMEMBER!

There is a NEW class to replace IT 1430 that has been created as an alternative for the non-IT majors. IT 1230 focuses on Web Technologies rather than programming and may be a better fit for Comm. Arts students. There are still seats available—so make sure to sign up before the classes are full!
